

Abby G. Ershow, Sc.D., joined the National Heart, Lung, and Blood Institute as Program Director (Nutrition) in 1989. Prior to that she was a Staff Fellow in the Epidemiology and Biostatistics Program of the National Cancer Institute from 1982 to 1989. Dr. Ershow was awarded a Doctor of Science degree in Nutrition, Physiology, and Biostatistics from the Harvard School of Public Health in 1979. She received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Cornell University in Biological Sciences (Physiology) in 1973. In 2006 she earned the Certificate in Public Leadership from the Brookings Institution, Washington DC. She completed a detail assignment as a Visiting Analyst at the US Government Accountability Office in 2007. A Registered Dietitian, she is a member of the American Society for Nutrition and the American Chemical Society. In 2007 Dr. Ershow was elected a Fellow of the American Heart Association. She is the author or coauthor of 9 book chapters and over 50 peer-reviewed articles and monographs. She also was a coordinating editor for the only full-length text on conducting controlled diet studies in humans (<http://www.nabconnection.org/Nutrition-Research-Book.php>).